12 Tips to Soothe a Crying Baby

Babies cry for a multitude of reasons. Infants may cry when experiencing physical needs such as hunger, a need for sleep, or the need to be changed. They may cry when they are scared, introduced to new places or people, angry, or searching for attention. Whatever the reason may be, babies need to cry. How caregivers respond to their crying can have a large impact on how much time babies spend crying.

1. Make sure all of her physical needs are met; hunger, sleep, warmth/coolness, clean diapers
2. Learn the difference between your baby's cries (tired, hungry, wet, warm...)
3. Hold her and look into her eyes
4. Gently rock with the baby
5. Walk with her
6. Give the baby a nice warm bath
7. Kindly mimic her facial expressions and tone of voice so she feels heard
8. Whisper to her, sometimes it can help re-focus attention
9. Talk to her about what is happening in the room
10. Read a book with her
11. Play with mirrors together
12. Listen to music together

A baby's first language is her cry

**If you find yourself getting frustrated, it is okay to put the baby in a safe place, walk away, and call a friend for some help or advice.*
